A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR

Oh what a beautiful morning! A statement so full of wonder and gratitude and the perfect song to start a groundbreaking musical. In a recent article New York columnist, Frank Rich said “At its birth, the show [Oklahoma] was to its America what Hamilton has been to ours: both an unexpected record-smashing box-office phenomenon and a reassuring portrait of our past that lifted up theatergoers at a time of great anxiety about the country’s future. I couldn’t agree more.

Personally, I’ve had a 38-year relationship with the show. In a four-year span starting in 1981, I performed in three separate productions and played or understudied many of the male roles. Then it went “up on a shelf” in my mind and didn’t come out again until I was courting my girlfriend, Lauren, (my wife of 28 years!) I guess I passed on the “OK bug” because when we exchanged wedding rings mine had “Let people say we’re in love” engraved on the inside!

Oklahoma is a story of grit and determination: to tame the land, to get the girl, to make a sale, to become a state. And like the country it was hoping to join it was a territory filled with good, bad, great and flawed. Sounds a bit like the evening news today. We hear so much about Republicans vs Democrats, conservatives vs liberals, brown vs black vs white, Christians vs Muslims vs Jews but these are just labels. They are important aspects of our lives, but they are not all that we are. We are multifaceted and we should not allow our leaders to divide us. If the disparate groups that came together in the Oklahoma territory 112 years ago to form the state can do it, surely, we are up to the task.

Enjoy the show. Yeow!
