Setting:

The landscape of Robert's mind on his 35th birthday

Please note there will be a strobe effect in Act 1

DIRECTOR'S NOTE

A notion often discussed with Company, and one Sondheim draws attention to in his book, "Finishing The Hat" is that the entire show takes place inside of Robert's head.

We strove to bring this concept to life.

Our play space evokes a dream--pieces of an apartment and of the New York City landscape merge to form a seemingly inescapable dream space where Robert finds himself. In this space Robert summons his friends, who appear as projections of themselves in his mind.

They come on his 35th birthday to help him decide what he wants from love in life. Each moment or memory of his friends becomes exaggerated—a concentration of personalities and off-hand comments that impacted him in a strong way.

Each scene moves and flows as the human consciousness would, bringing out his fears and desires, barely allowing him to catch up before he is thrust into the next moment.

In this way his friends take him on a journey of self-discovery--pushing him, confronting him, reassuring him and loving him to help him understand what it means to be alive.

I hope you will find this journey as moving and gratifying to watch as it was for us to create it for you.

T&C WANTS YOU TO KNOW...

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Welcome to the 2016 Season!

After an unpredictable and rollercoaster winter I am thrilled to present, on behalf of Town and Country Players, our 69th Season. I find it exciting and quite fitting that we kick off this year's programming with Stephen Sondheim's Company. The show is a well-known favorite from the Sondheim repertoire, but it perfectly reflects the wonderful growth and evolution that is happening at Town and Country Players.

Without giving too much away before the curtain rises, friends from all parts of one man's life converge for a celebration in the musical Company. I see the same thing reflected in the cast that has been assembled to tell this story. You have some fresh, new faces making their Town and Country Players' debut with this show, coupled with some friends returning after a hiatus, alongside a few other prominent members of the Town and Country Players' family. This coming together of old and new is also reflected in the design team assembled for this production. Across all aspects of this production, you have a gathering of many that are creating the ever growing and ever changing landscape of Town and Country Players.

Some changes have been made along the way to keep the organization moving forward. We are open to any and all ideas, so please keep them coming our way! The creation of workshops for areas like Stage Management and Stage Combat came directly from the suggestion of members. The Signature Series at Town and Country Players came into being as a direct result of the desire to promote and encourage playwrights and their original, new works.

It is our pleasure and honor to present to you our 2016 Season. Please spread the word and share the passion that we feel for this piece of treasured Bucks County Art known as Town and Country Players.

T&C and the Central Bucks Sertoma Club Bring Sound to the Hearing Impaired

At the end of 2014, T&C received a donation of a Hearing Loop System and two sets of personal neck loops and headphones. With these donations, audience members with hearing loss will be able to fully enjoy T&C performances.

The "looping" equipment was installed in the theatre by Central Bucks Sertoma Club member, Chip Hilger of East Coast Hearing Loops. It allows hearing aids and cochlear implants that are equipped with t-coils to serve as customized wireless speakers with just a touch of a button.

T&C is very grateful for these donations and hopes our audience members will benefit from them for years to come.
